

APPEAL NO. 010941
FILED JUNE 7, 2001

This appeal arises pursuant to the Texas Workers' Compensation Act, TEX. LAB. CODE ANN. § 401.001 et seq. (1989 Act). A contested case hearing was held on April 12, 2001. The hearing officer determined that: (1) the appellant (claimant) did not sustain a compensable injury on or about _____; (2) claimant did not timely report her alleged injury to her employer, and did not have good cause for such failure to timely report; and (3) claimant did not have disability. The claimant appealed each of these determinations on sufficiency grounds. The respondent (carrier) urges affirmance.

DECISION

Affirmed.

Compensable Injury

The hearing officer did not err in determining that the claimant did not sustain a compensable injury on or about _____. The claimant had the burden to prove that she sustained damage or harm to the physical structure of the body, arising out of and in the course and scope of her employment. Texas Workers' Compensation Commission Appeal No. 91028, decided October 23, 1991. There was conflicting evidence presented with regard to this issue. The hearing officer is the sole judge of the weight and credibility of the evidence (Section 410.165(a)) and, as the trier of fact, resolves the conflicts and inconsistencies in the evidence including the medical evidence (Texas Employers Insurance Association v. Campos, 666 S.W.2d 286 (Tex. App.-Houston [14th Dist.] 1984, no writ)). The Appeals Panel, an appellate-reviewing tribunal, will not disturb the challenged factual findings of a hearing officer unless they are so against the great weight and preponderance of the evidence as to be clearly wrong or manifestly unjust and we do not find them so in this case. Cain v. Bain, 709 S.W.2d 175, 176 (Tex. 1986); In re King's Estate, 150 Tex. 662, 244 S.W.2d 660 (1951).

Notice of Injury

The hearing officer did not err in determining that the claimant failed to timely report a work-related injury to her employer and did not have good cause for such failure to report. Section 409.001(a) provides, in relevant part, that an employee or a person acting on the employee's behalf shall notify the employer of an injury not later than the 30th day after the date on which the injury occurred. Failure to notify an employer as required by Section 409.001(a) relieves the employer and the carrier of liability, unless the employer or carrier has actual knowledge of the injury, good cause exists, or the claim is not contested. Section 409.002. Conflicting evidence was presented with regard to this issue. The hearing officer's determination that the claimant failed to timely report the alleged injury to her employer is not so against the great weight and preponderance of the evidence as to be clearly wrong or manifestly unjust. Cain, supra. Additionally, we cannot conclude that the hearing officer abused her discretion in determining that good cause did not exist for such failure to timely report.

Disability

The hearing officer did not err in determining that the claimant did not have disability from the alleged injury. The 1989 Act requires the existence of a compensable injury as a prerequisite to a finding of disability. Section 401.011(16). Because the claimant was found not to sustain a compensable injury, the hearing officer properly concluded that the claimant did not have a disability.

The decision and order of the hearing officer are affirmed.
