

IRO Certificate #4599

NOTICE OF INDEPENDENT REVIEW DECISION

April 23, 2002

Re: IRO Case # M2-02-0491-01

___ has been certified as an independent review organization (IRO) and has been authorized to perform independent reviews of medical necessity for the Texas Worker's Compensation Commission (TWCC). Texas HB. 2600, Rule133.308 effective January 1, 2002, allows a claimant or provider who has received an adverse medical necessity determination from a carrier's internal process, to request an independent review by an IRO.

In accordance with the requirement that TWCC assign cases to certified IRO's, TWCC assigned this case to ___ for an independent review. ___ has performed an independent review of the proposed care to determine if the adverse determination was appropriate. For that purpose, ___ received relevant medical records, any documents obtained from parties in making the adverse determination, and any other documents and/or written information submitted in support of the appeal.

The case was reviewed by a physician who is Board Certified in Neurological Surgery. He or she has signed a certification statement attesting that no known conflicts of interest exist between him or her and any of the treating physicians or providers, or any of the physicians or providers who reviewed the case for a determination prior to referral to ___ for independent review. In addition, the certification statement further attests that the review was performed without bias for or against the carrier, medical provider, or any other party to this case.

The ___ reviewer who reviewed this case has determined that, based on the medical records provided, the requested care is not medically necessary. Therefore, ___ agrees with the adverse determination regarding this case. The reviewer's decision and the specific reasons for it, is as follows:

This case involves a 44 year old female who experienced pain in both shoulders and arms in ___, and associated these symptoms with her job activity. Evaluation led to a diagnosis of carpal tunnel syndrome, and carpal tunnel surgery was performed in 1993. Because of persistent symptomatology, on 3/7/01 the patient had an anterior cervical vertebrectomy with a C5-6 anterior cervical fusion. The treating physician requested discographic evaluation to better evaluate the source of the patient's continued pain.

I agree with the carrier's decision to that the requested discography of the cervical spine is not medically necessary in the treatment of this patient. One reason for this is that the technique is extremely difficult when the patient has had previous surgery on the cervical spine. The levels to be injected cannot be determined by the patient's symptomatology, or by her more recent CT scans or MRI of the cervical spine. In addition, the possibility of a falsely positive discogram is medically probable in an individual with this long a history of difficulties that are quite varied in nature.

This medical necessity decision by an Independent Review Organization is deemed to be a Commission decision and order.
