

IRO Certificate #4599

NOTICE OF INDEPENDENT REVIEW DECISION

July 18, 2002

Re: IRO Case # M2-02-0826-01

Texas Worker's Compensation Commission:

___ has been certified as an independent review organization (IRO) and has been authorized to perform independent reviews of medical necessity for the Texas Worker's Compensation Commission (TWCC). Texas HB. 2600, Rule 133.308 effective January 1, 2002, allows a claimant or provider who has received an adverse medical necessity determination from a carrier's internal process, to request an independent review by an IRO.

In accordance with the requirement that TWCC assign cases to certified IRO's, TWCC assigned this case to ___ for an independent review. ___ has performed an independent review of the proposed care to determine if the adverse determination was appropriate. For that purpose, ___ received relevant medical records, any documents obtained from parties in making the adverse determination, and any other documents and/or written information submitted in support of the appeal.

The case was reviewed by a psychologist with a Ph.D. in psychology, who is licensed by the State of Texas. He or she has signed a certification statement attesting that no known conflicts of interest exist between him or her and any of the treating physicians or providers, or any of the physicians or providers who reviewed the case for a determination prior to referral to ___ for independent review. In addition, the certification statement further attests that the review was performed without bias for or against the carrier, medical provider, or any other party to this case.

The ___ reviewer who reviewed this case has determined that, based on the medical records provided, the requested treatment is not medically necessary. Therefore, ___ agrees with the adverse determination regarding this case. The reviewer's decision and the specific reasons for it, is as follows:

History

This case involves a now 41-year-old male who was injured on ___ in a motor vehicle accident in which his truck rolled over. On 2/15/01 he underwent surgery to repair multiple tendon lacerations. On 4/3/02 a psychological evaluation was requested for the reason that the patient was not improving as much as might be expected. Subsequently, however, the treating doctor noted that the patient had completed his care and that his condition had shown marked improvement, with increased strength, flexibility and endurance.

Requested Service

Psychological testing and PPA

Decision

I agree with the carrier's decision to deny the requested Psychological testing and PPA at this point in time.

Rationale

The rationale for requesting the services was to enhance this patient's response to treatment. Apparently he has since recovered to the point that the doctor making the request believes he is capable of returning to work. Specifically, psychological treatment no longer appears necessary to enhance the patient's ability to respond to rehabilitation.

This medical necessity decision by an Independent Review Organization is deemed to be a Commission decision and order.
