

IRO Certificate #4599

NOTICE OF INDEPENDENT REVIEW DECISION

December 9, 2002

Re: IRO Case # M2-02-1048

Texas Worker's Compensation Commission:

___ has been certified as an independent review organization (IRO) and has been authorized to perform independent reviews of medical necessity for the Texas Worker's Compensation Commission (TWCC). Texas HB. 2600, Rule133.308 effective January 1, 2002, allows a claimant or provider who has received an adverse medical necessity determination from a carrier's internal process, to request an independent review by an IRO.

In accordance with the requirement that TWCC assign cases to certified IROs, TWCC assigned this case to ___ for an independent review. ___ has performed an independent review of the proposed care to determine if the adverse determination was appropriate. For that purpose, ___ received relevant medical records, any documents obtained from parties in making the adverse determination, and any other documents and/or written information submitted in support of the appeal.

The case was reviewed by a physician who is Board Certified in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. He or she has signed a certification statement attesting that no known conflicts of interest exist between him or her and any of the treating physicians or providers, or any of the physicians or providers who reviewed the case for a determination prior to referral to ___ for independent review. In addition, the certification statement further attests that the review was performed without bias for or against the carrier, medical provider, or any other party to this case.

The determination of the ___ reviewer who reviewed this case, based on the medical records provided, is as follows:

History

The patient is a 19-year old male who injured his right index finger in ___. He suffered amputation of the distal right index finger when it was caught on a hook. He was treated with pain medication and physical therapy. He was referred to a plastic surgeon for closure of the laceration.

Requested Service

Work conditioning program

Decision

I agree with the carrier's decision to deny the requested treatment.

Rationale

Laceration/amputation of the tip of the index finger is an awful painful injury with a difficult and prolonged recovery. The patient received strengthening and range of motion exercises with physical therapy. Desensitization is also very important, as the pain from this injury can be limiting. This was recommended in the clinical notes. It does not appear from the physical therapy notes provided for review that desensitization treatment was applied. The FCE is unclear regarding functional deficits. The FCE described pain as a limiting factor, and pain in the index finger with gripping and lifting as the main limiting factor. With continued occupational therapy and desensitization the patient should be able to return to normal duty. A work conditioning program is not reasonable or necessary for this type of injury.

This medical necessity decision by an Independent Review Organization is deemed to be a Commission decision and order.
