Clinical History

This 30 year old female with a history of chronic myofascial pain syndrome, depression, and anxiety secondary to chronic pain was receiving treatment with a RS-41 muscle stimulator unit for her acute pain. Other treatment included antidepressants and Motrin.

Requested Service(s)

The RS-41 muscle stimulator unit

Decision

It has been determined that the RS-41 muscle stimulator unit is not medically necessary to treat this patient's condition.

Rationale/Basis for Decision

This patient has a chronic pain syndrome. She has pain in the upper back and neck. Initially, the RS-41 helped, but then her back pain increased and she became more symptomatic. The RS-41 muscle stimulator unit will not solve this patient's problem. Therefore, it has been determined that the RS-41 muscle stimulator unit is not medically necessary to treat this patient's condition.

This decision by the IRO is deemed to be a TWCC decision and order.
