NOTICE OF INDEPENDENT REVIEW DECISION

June 28, 2005

Re: IRO Case # M2-05-1718-01

Texas Worker's Compensation Commission:

Envoy Medical Systems, LP (Envoy) has been certified as an independent review organization (IRO) and has been authorized to perform independent reviews of medical necessity for the Texas Worker's Compensation Commission (TWCC). Texas HB. 2600, Rule 133.308 effective January 1, 2002, allows a claimant or provider who has received an adverse medical necessity determination from a carrier's internal process, to request an independent review by an IRO.

In accordance with the requirement that TWCC assign cases to certified IROs, TWCC assigned this case to Envoy for an independent review. Envoy has performed an independent review of the proposed care to determine if the adverse determination was appropriate. For that purpose, Envoy received relevant medical records, any documents obtained from parties in making the adverse determination, and any other documents and/or written information submitted in support of the appeal.

The case was reviewed by a physician who is Board Certified in Neurological Surgery, and who has met the requirements for the TWCC Approved Doctor List or who has been granted an exception from the ADL. He or she has signed a certification statement attesting that no known conflicts of interest exist between him or her and any of the treating physicians or providers, or any of the physicians or providers who reviewed the case for a determination prior to referral to Envoy for independent review. In addition, the certification statement further attests that the review was performed without bias for or against the carrier, medical provider, or any other party to this case.

The determination of the Envoy reviewer who reviewed this case, based on the medical records provided, is as follows:

Medical Information Reviewed

1. Table of disputed services
2. Denial letters
3. Lumbar MRI report 7/19/04

4. Neurological evaluation with EMG report 3/31/05, Dr. Croft
5. Pain management reports late 2004 – 2005, Dr. Randhawa
6. Reports of medical evaluation 12/6/04, 5/5/05, Dr. Reid
7. Operative report injections 5/11/05

History

The patient is a 42-year-old male who in ___ was at the end of a boom in a bucket in a large truck when there was a sudden jarring, and he developed back pain that soon extended into the right lower extremity. Examination has revealed a deficit to pinprick in the right S1 distribution, and positive straight leg raising on the right. The patient's pain persists despite injections, medication and physical therapy. A 7/19/04 MRI suggested L5-S1 difficulty without surgically significant changes. CT myelographic evaluation has been recommended because of the patient's persistent difficulty and the possibility of finding something on the test that would indicate surgically correctable pathology.

Requested Service(s)

Lumbar myelogram.

Decision

I disagree with the carrier's decision to deny the requested lumbar myelogram.

Rationale

It is not infrequent that findings that can indicate surgically correctable pathology are seen on myelogram that are not seen on MRI. Many things have been tried to alleviate the patient's discomfort without success. It is time to try to reach some conclusions regarding the possibility of surgery being helpful, and CT lumbar myelographic evaluation may be useful in this effort.

This medical necessity decision by an Independent Review Organization is deemed to be a Commission decision and order.
