Issues

1. Is the requester entitled to reimbursement for the service in dispute?

Findings

1. The requester is seeking reimbursement in the amount of $456.97, for ambulance services, rendered on December 10, 2024.

With a few exceptions, 28 TAC §133.20 (b) and Texas Labor Code (TLC) Sec. §408.027(a) requires the submission of medical bills not later than 95 days from the date of service. TLC §408.0272 (b) provided the exceptions to this requirement, which include:

- The health care provider filed the bill to
  - an insurer that issues a policy of group accident and health insurance under which the injured employee is a covered insured

- a health maintenance organization that issues evidence of coverage under which the injured employee is a covered enrollee; or
- a workers' compensation insurance carrier other than the insurance carrier liable for the payment of benefits under this title; or
- the commissioner determines that the failure resulted from a catastrophic event that substantially interfered with the normal business operations of the provider.

TLC §408.0272 (d) also states that the period for submitting a claim for payment may be extended by the agreement of the parties.

The Division of Workers' Compensation (DWC) finds that there is insufficient evidence to establish that the requester submitted the medical bill to the insurance carrier within 95 days after the date the services were provided. Additionally, there is no evidence that the bill met any of the exceptions to the filing deadline, nor that any agreement was made with the insurance carrier to extend the filing period.

Based on these findings, the DWC concludes that the requester failed to demonstrate timely submission of the medical bill. As a result, the requester is not entitled to reimbursement for the services in question.

Conclusion

The outcome of this medical fee dispute is determined by the evidence presented by both the requester and the respondent during the adjudication process. While it is acknowledged that not all evidence may have been discussed in detail, all information submitted was duly considered in reaching a resolution.

DWC finds the requester has not established that reimbursement is due.

Order

Under Texas Labor Code §§413.031 and 413.019, DWC has determined the requester is entitled to $0.00 reimbursement for the disputed services.
