RE: Implementation Dates for Changes to Designated Doctor and Maximum Medical Improvement (MMI) and Impairment Rating (IR) Rules

The Texas Department of Insurance, Division of Workers' Compensation (DWC) adopted amendments to 28 Texas Administrative Code (TAC) Chapter 127 and 28 TAC Section 180.23 that affect designated doctors and doctors with MMI and IR certifications. This memo explains various effective dates for parts of the rules and DWC forms.

- Certification testing for designated doctors and MMI and IR-certified doctors
Doctors who have passed the certification test on or after May 13, 2013, are no longer required to take the certification test for certifications that expire on or after April 30, 2023, the effective date of the rule change.

Doctors must still take required certification training every two years. Designated doctors must continue to reapply for certification using the DWC Form-067, Designated doctor certification application every two years.

- Revised designated doctor qualifications
DWC amended the exam qualification requirements for injured employees with traumatic brain injuries. Additional physician specialties are now qualified to examine injured employees with traumatic brain injuries. See 28 TAC Section 127.130(b)(9)(B).

DWC also updated exam qualification requirements for injured employees with multiple fractures and spinal cord injuries. Doctors of chiropractic, doctors of osteopathy, or doctors of medicine can examine injured employees with multiple fractures, a single spinal fracture, or rib fractures when there is no vascular injury. Physicians with certain board specialties are qualified to evaluate any fracture or fractures, including a single spinal fracture, with vascular injury. See 28 TAC Section 127.130(b)(9)(C) and (F).

The updated qualifications apply to designated doctor exams ordered on or after June 5, 2023. Designated doctors can find more information about these changes, including new training, at www.tdi.texas.gov/wc/dd/index.html.

- Multiple certifications of MMI and IR by designated doctors

Designated doctors will no longer complete multiple certifications for injured employees when the ordered exam contains the issues of MMI, IR, and extent of injury for exams ordered on or after June 5, 2023. Designated doctors will only complete multiple certifications of MMI and IR when DWC requests it through a Presiding Officer's Directive.

Revised Forms

- DWC Form-067, *Designated doctor certification application

DWC updated the DWC Form-067 to conform with agency style standards. Designated doctors should use the updated form when requesting renewal of their certification or when updating their application information. We will still process renewal applications that designated doctors already submitted to DWC before we made the updated form available.

- DWC Form-068, *Designated doctor examination data report

DWC updated the DWC Form-068 to conform with agency style standards and for designated doctors to record extent-of-injury findings more precisely. Designated doctors must use the new form for exams conducted on or after June 5, 2023.

- DWC Form-032, *Request for designated doctor examination

DWC updated the DWC Form-032 to conform with agency style standards and the adopted rule amendments. Requesters must use the new form by June 5, 2023. For more information about the new form, see www.tdi.texas.gov/wc/dd/index.html.
